UTILITY DISTRICT PLANS EXPLAINED BY FACTS FINDER

THE question of forming on Monterey Peninsula a Public Utility District is a clear-cut issue between public ownership of water and private ownership of that essential commodity.

Municipal ownership and operation of water systems, an old story in this country, is not "socialism" and redounds to the economic advantage of the communities practising it, according to a study of the history from 1893 to 1933 of 200 cities and towns in California owning their own water systems.

The right of the people of Carmel and Pacific Grove to vote on the question of forming a utility district has been challenged by special interests.

These are highlights of an interview with Frederick Paxson Howard in which he explained to a Pine Cone representative the reasons why the so-called "fact-finding comittee" has recommended to peninsula communities the formation of a utility district for the express purpose of purchasing the Monterey County Water Works.

County Pays Expense

"Calling of an election to determine whether the water district should be formed commits the people to nothing," Mr. Howard declared. "Expense of the election is born by the county. In canvassing the vote for such an election the supervisors would count the vote from each city as a unit. Any one of the three cities choosing by its vote to remain outside the district automatically remains outside. But the people have the right to vote on this matter. The Monterey County Water Works does not wish this question even to come to a vote."

Frederick Paxson Howard is an old public utility man. He was for many years an executive of the Spring Valley Water Company, serving San Francisco. In spite of this fact, or because of it, he favors public ownership of water. "No commodity so essential to life should be privately owned," he declared.

Less of Burden

Because of the disadvantages of private financing as opposed to public, municipal ownership is less of a burden on the people, either as consumers of water or as tax-payers, than private ownership, says Mr. Howard. He points out that bonds of a privately-owned utility are gradually retired, whereas bonds and stocks of a corporation, is a constant debt and goes on forever. He recognizes that the equipment of the water company is obsolete and that much of it will have to be replaced. Of this he says:

"In one form or another, we, as taxpayers or as water consumers will bear the expense of replacing a worn-out system of pipes. We can do it more cheaply as owners of the system than as water-consumers under private ownership."

Mr. Howard advanced the following facts to sustain his contention that municipal ownership of water is cheaper.

The Joint Utility Board of which he is chairman with William Fiddes, Pacific Grove, as vice chairman and A. G. Metz of Monterey as secretary-treasurer, after organizing last August, made a study of the bonded indebtedness of 247 cities and towns of this state, which, between 1893 and 1933 issued bonds to the extent of $614,924,087. Of this amount $164,039,296 has been redeemed, $450,884,790 is outstanding. Two hundred of these communities own their own water systems. For easier study, a representative group of 44 cities was selected. These 44 cities have issued bonds valued at $220,313,590; have redeemed $50,847,075 and have outstanding $169,466,515. The average for the 44 is $5,007,121 bonds issued, $1,155,615 redeemed and $3,860,603 outstanding.

Low Interest Rate

"There is no discount account in the above financing," Mr. Howard says. "These bonds brought into the treasuries 100 cents on every dollar, or better, and the interest rate ranges on the average from 4 to 4¼ per cent."

Then the fact finding commission studied the figures of the Monterey

Point Sur Light Keeper First to See Macon Plight

IN the stoutly anchored little village atop Point Sur, Lightkeeper Tom Honderson, his two assistants, H. A. Day and H. R. Miller and their wives stood late Tuesday afternoon, watching the great airship Macon drift placidly northward. The dirigible dipped suddenly, quivered, and righted itself. Something that looked to the watchers like a fin on the gas bag broke off. The rudder dropped. They thought that they saw the fabric of the gas bag part and black smoke issue from it. The ship nosed upward and disappeared above the low-hanging fog. Then objects began dropping from the sky, striking the water with dull detonation; whether ballast or bombs, the watchers did not know. A sudden rain squall obliterated sea and sky.

This is the graphic story told by the only eye-witnesses to the initial distress of the Macon, lost off Point Sur late Tuesday afternoon. Darkness and a lowering sky prevented possibility of viewing the whole catastrophe.

Hundreds of phone calls reached Point Sur lighthouse during the hours following. Before 6 o'clock, the London Daily Mirror had called, one of scores of newspapers, for an authentic story of what the light-keepers had seen. Two cars of newspaper correspondents negotiated the perilous automobile road winding up the massive rock-pile; one, on the return trip, foundered in the sandy causeway leading from the light rock to the Carmel-San Simeon highway. Lightkeeper Henderson drove down and rescued the stranded newshawks and urged them to extend to the hundreds of motorists lining the highway his cordial invitation to

Monterey Peninsula Orchestra to Play Carmel Concert Sunday Night

Featuring Mildred Sahlstrom Wright and Mrs. Anita Barrett in the beautiful Bach double concerto, the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra will give a concert at the Denny-Watrous Gallery Sunday, Feb. 17, at 8:30 p. m.

Many Carmelites have enjoyed the privilege of dropping in at Denny-Watrous Gallery on Sunday evenings to hear Ernst Bacon conduct the orchestra. With an uneven group of players ranging from children to professionals, he has been able to surmount the difficulties confronting him, and produce really fine music. When the orchestra disbanded for a few months after the departure of Michel Penha, it was found to leave a strange void in the community's activities. Many had come to look upon the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra as a centre which gave musical efforts some meaning. Without it music lovers were lost. With delight was received the news that the orchestra was to continue under the baton of Ernst Bacon.

Great interest is gathering around the orchestra and there are a number of new players: The full list is as follows: first violins: concert master, Robert Nagler, Mildred Sahlstrom Wright, Anita Barrett, Leonard Cooper, Vive Harber, Elton von Aman; second violins: David Hagemeyer, Winifred Stilwell, Ernest Calley, Hugh Smith; violas: Geraldine Bruckman, Nancy Bragg, Alice Meckenstock; cellos: Jean Crouch, Max Hagemeyer, Doris Fee, Celinea Wells; double bass: Fenton Foster; bass tuba, Lynwood Dozier; clarinet: Sergeant George Thams; flute: Verne Stalter; trumpet: George Ross, Gordon Bain; trombone: Chandler Stewart, Percy Lee; harmonium: Winifred Howe; piano: Anne Greene, Sidney Robertson, Alice Austin; tympani: Dr. R. M. Hollingsworth; cymbals, percussion: Sidney Robertson.

The program will be the Second movement of the Beethoven Fourth Symphony, the Bach Double Concerto, "Spoon River" by Percy Grainger, "Pavana" by Byrde and "Gopak" by Moussorgsky.

NEW HOME FOR WOMAN'S CLUB DECIDED UPON

THE Carmel Woman's Club will build its own home. This was decided by ballot at a special business meeting held Monday afternoon at the Girl Scout House. At the same time that the question of building was decided upon, the club house committee was authorized to proceed with the purchase of a 60-foot lot on the east side of Dolores, just south of Ninth, one lot removed from the corner. The sketch of a proposed building, interior and exterior, was submitted and accepted.

On the building committee, which has been studying the project for several months, and had a complete plan to present at the meeting Monday, are Mrs. H. S. Nye, club president, as chairman; Mrs. Leslie L. Armstrong, Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, Mrs. John E. Abernethy, and Mrs. Alfred Wolff.

To Immunize Pets in Carmel for Fifty Cents

STARTING Monday, Feb. 18, everybody will have the opportunity to have their dogs and cats immunized for 50 cents for each animal. Through the cooperation of the County Health Department, the City of Carmel, the Humane Society, Drs. Graham and Hammond, and Robert G. Leidig, arrangements have been made to immunize all dogs and cats between 10 and 5 o'clock on four days next week. All persons are urged to take advantage of this opportunity before it is made compulsory by city ordinance.

From Monday to Thursday of next week in the Old Studio restaurant on Dolores street, Drs. Graham and Hammond will be in attendance to immunize Carmel's canine and feline inhabitants and the health department's representative will also be present to arrange for free immunization of pets for anyone proving unable to pay the small fee of 50 cents.

Tomorrow Last Day for Election Registering

The League of Women Voters is calling attention to the fact that tomorrow is the last day for registration before the March election of school trustees. All who did not vote at either the August primary or the November election must register to vote at the school election. New residents or any who have moved from their previous precincts must register. The privilege of voting in the coming election is extended to all properly registered who are citizens of the United States, have been in California one year, in the county 90 days and in the precinct 40 days. Registrations are being taken at Staniford's Drug Store and at the Triangle Realty Company office.

SPECIAL GUESTS

At Wednesday evening's monthly dinner and social evening of the Manzanita club, Carmel Legionnaires were entertained as special guests.

County Water Works, as filed with the State Railroad Commission, since the water company has at no time placed its books directly at the disposal of the commission.

The company has capital stock of 20,000 shares, at $50 par value, or $1,000,000 worth of stock. The discount account was $379,044.36, which is lost. Actual proceeds from the sale of stock were $621,955.64. From 1926 to 1933 the company paid dividends of 13 per cent on $1,000,000, or 20 per cent on the actual proceeds from sale of the stock.

In that period bonds were authorized in the amount of $2,500,000, 30-year redemption, bearing 6 per cent coupon interest. Outstanding in December, 1933, was $648,500, or 6 per cent. Lost in discount account was $36,792.17. Proceeds from the sale of the bonds amounted to $621,955.64, or 6.3 per cent.

History of Bonds

History of the bonds redeemed is as follows: In 1928 there was outstanding $595,000; in 1929, $669,500; an increase of $74,000. In 1930 the same amount was outstanding; in 1931 it decreased $14,000 to $655,500. In 1932 it decreased $7000 to $648,500, which amount still remained outstanding in 1933. The total decrease or redemption of bonds in four years was $21,000.

At this rate of retirement of five bonds per year, Mr. Howard figures that it would take 130 years to retire the balance of the mortgage of $648,500.

In addition there is a floating debt of $150,000 borrowed at 7 per cent interest from the Central California Water Company, which owns all of the stock of the Monterey County Water Works and receives all of the dividends.

Liquor Clause Suit Postponed to March

Property owners in Carmel will have to wait until an undetermined date in March to learn the fate of the liquor clause suit brought by the Carmel Development Company against certain business property owners. Due to a crowded calendar in superior court at Salinas, the action was postponed when it came up a few days ago for consideration.

Nearly all Carmel property deeds issued by the company carry a clause making it unlawful to possess or sell liquor on the premises under penalty of forfeiting title to the original owners. Until early last year no action was taken on the clause since its first use in 1903 when the town was incorporated.

Lights Aid Rescue

South of Point Sur, far out to sea, lights of the Pacific fleet were visible in a huge semi-circle, flashing powerful lights to aid the small boats in their search for survivors. The little boats were visible only as dozens of tiny points of light, vaguely piercing the fog. Thirty soldiers from the Presidio, rushed to the scene in trucks, and accompanied by an ambulance, kept a weary vigil through the night, for survivors or bodies washed ashore.

A company of metropolitan newspaper men chartered a fishing-boat at Monterey. They left the wharf about 10 o'clock; at 3 in the morning they reached the scene of the fleet's activity. The battleships were steaming northward with survivors, and failed to heed the call of the chilled correspondents to stop and take them aboard. Shortly after dawn, the boat chugged back to Monterey wharf, without the graphic survivors stories' hoped for.

Eighty-One Saved

Next morning, when fact was separated from rumor, the anxious watchers of the Monterey peninsula learned that, miraculously, this was no such disaster as overtook the Shenandoah and the Akron. Eighty-one men were saved; only two were lost. Because the ships of the Pacific fleet were northward bound to San Francisco, they were at hand to rescue the crew of the great dirigible, and to minimize this final tragedy to the United States' lighter-than-air fleet.

Sanitary Election Is Called for March 5

Three members of the Carmel Sanitary District board will be chosen at an election to be held Monday, March 5. One consolidated voting precinct will be established for this election and the polling place will be Carmel garage at Ocean and San Carlos.

According to members of the board, there will be no advance nominations, but names of candidates will be written in on blank ballots. Present members are C. W. Whitney, Hugh Comstock, J. B. McCarthy and Arthur T. Shand. There is at present one vacancy.

ROUTINE MATTERS OCCUPY SUNSET SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Routine matters occupied the Sunset school trustees at their monthly meeting Tuesday evening. An allowance was made for mileage for the school nurse using her car in performance of her official duties. WEEK'S RAINFALL

Carmel's total rainfall for the season is now 14.57 inches, according to the last reading of the rain-guage at Carnegie Coastal Laboratory Thursday morning. Thursday's rainfall was .10 inches; that of Wednesday was .08; .03 for Tuesday; .05 on Sunday. Last Friday .48 inches fell; the rains late Thursday, Feb. 7, brought .10 inches.

Mrs. Mary May Dies; Resided Here 25 Years

Mrs. Mary May, resident of Carmel for 25 years, passed away Feb. 7 in San Francisco, where she had been staying since shortly after Christmas. She was 79 years of age, born in Providence, R. I., and had resided in San Francisco and San Jose before coming here as one of the pioneers. She had three children, of whom only her daughter, Mrs. Maude May De Yoe of Carmel survives her. Her two grandchildren are Miss Marion Wiethase of San Francisco, and Robert De Yoe.

Private funeral services were held in San Francisco Feb. 8, followed by cremation.

Plan Benefit Parties for Humane Society

All peninsula organizations have been asked by the Humane society to cooperate in securing money and publicity to aid the society in its efforts to control the rabies epidemic. Both objectives will be furthered, according to a letter sent out by the secretary, Bernard Rowntree, through the series of card parties to be given under the chairmanship of Mrs. Sidney Fish. The first will be given tonight, in the lounge of Hotel San Carlos, to be followed by the following Friday night parties at the same place: March 1, 15 and 29; April 12 and 26. Prizes will be awarded and admission is 50 cents. Books of tickets may be bought in Monterey at Baker's Gift Shop, Palace Drug Store and the San Carlos hotel; In Pacific Grove at Tuttle's Drug Store; in Carmel at the Game Cock shop or from Barnet Segal.

School Observes Lincoln Birthday

Lincoln's birthday was observed at Sunset school at the student body meeting last Friday, in a program presented by Geraldine Lamb, Homer Levinson, Junie Clark, Ann Millis, Boice Richardson. Valentine's Day was celebrated today. True to the traditions of fairyland were the dances of hob-goblins and elves and the court of the King and Queen of Hearts, whose everyday selves are members of the fifth grade. Next assembly will be next Thursday, when the eighth grade will give a play dedicated to Washington's birthday. The school will be closed next Friday, in honor of the father of his country.

Students were extremely active in participation in the student body meeting last Friday. Nominations were made for student body officers for this semester. The guest speaker was Acting Police Chief Charles Guth, who outlined state and local laws for bicycle traffic. He explained that a bicycle must keep on the right side of the road, never use the sidewalk, must be equipped with a light one-half hour after sundown which can be seen at least 300 feet and a reflex mirror in the rear; its rider must use arm signals like a motorist; that it must be parked standing straight up on a curb or against the side of a building.

Homer Levinson conducted the assembly as student body president. Lee Van Atta, business manager, reported that $20.06 was cleared by the recent Pattison marionette show. On the face of the check Miss Pattison wrote: "In sincere appreciation of one of the outstanding student bodies of California."

Grove and Monterey Will Vie In Annual Tilt

Pacific Grove High School will engage in its annual basketball conflict with Monterey High School in an encounter in which both teams will fight to the bitter end, at the Pacific Grove gymnasium on Thursday, Feb. 21. They will battle again at Monterey gymnasium Saturday, March 2. Pacific Grove is determined to score a knockout blow to Monterey hopes and as Monterey also aspires to secure the cherished victory, the basketball fans of the peninsula are sure to witness a well-played and well-matched battle both on Tuesday and Saturday nights.

MANY a grammar school child's heart beat faster this week due to the romantic observance of St. Valentine's Day, which took place in every classroom on that auspicious occasion. Beautifully decorated valentine boxes concealed the secret longings of many hearts in the form of elaborate valentines, which were distributed by "cupid" messengers to the eagerly expectant lads and lassies. And more than one dutiful pupil expressed their love for "dear teacher" in romantically rhyming couplets. Whether this sudden regard for the reigning highness of the classroom was incited by a desire for bigger and better grades will ever be a dark secret, but nevertheless the sentiment is apparent.

Despite the threatening skies and absence of sun, the members of the Junior Girls Sunday School Class of the Congregational Church at Pacific Grove found much pleasure in a picnic Saturday. Playing "hide-and-seek," and "beefsteak," and gathering wood which was necessitated by their desire to roast weiners, filled up the day for the young adventurers and they returned to their homes none the worse for daring to trifle with the elements. All the participants, however, made resolutions to dispense with all food in the future. Patsy Parker, Gladys McGill, Jean MacAnaney, Beverley Wilson, and their teachers, Barbara McGill and Doris Cook, were those in attendance.

Miss Anita Abby, editor of the Pacific Grove High School "sheet," the "Knockout," has been confined to her home with a severe cold for the first three days of this week.

Miss Ana Cortes of the Pacific Grove grammar school faculty has been laid low for the past few weeks, another victim of "one-punch flu" at her home in San Jose. She is expected to resume her instruction of literature in the near future.

Educational Director of de Young Museum Tells of Its Functions

By DORIS COOK

"MUSEUMS are not just storehouses of art any more; they are alive, active centers of education throughout America," said Ethel Wulff, educational director of M. H. de Young Museum at San Francisco, who spent Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Douglass Cutting, of Pacific Grove. The purpose of her visit to the Peninsula was her talk at the Monterey County Federation of Women's clubs meeting at the civic club house in Salinas, Tuesday. She spoke on "Modern Architecture and Design."

Ethel Wulff talked of the various functions of the de Young Museum in an interesting interview, Tuesday, concerning her impressions of that museum and her work in connection with it. She observed that one of the functions of the educational department of the museum was to aid and encourage artists who do creative work. At this time many theories and suggestions are being set forth by experts for the use of leisure time of adults who, it is indicated, will have more of that commodity in the future. The adult educational movement of the museums gives the well-educated and interested adult a chance to understand and appreciate art, and a chance to find and develop a hobby for intelligent use of leisure time. The board of education of the bay district schools schedules regular classroom work in connection with the museum and the museum conducts regular classes in coordinating with this work. The museum also conducts other activities on Saturdays and holidays which are apart from school work. Story hours are held which are quite popular with the children of the bay district. Museum clubs consisting of ship clubs, art clubs, dramatic clubs and other organizations based on the hobbies of the children have been formed.

The de Young museum has, in the opinion of Ethel Wulff, the finest textile study collection in the west, and one of the most inclusive in America. The collection includes textiles ranging in period of time from the Coptic textile of the fifth century to the modern American prints. Textiles from the orient, North and South America, Europe, and from many other parts of the world are also included in the exhibit. Weavers and textile designers from all over have studied these designs and have received much valuable information from these studies. "California people should indeed be proud of the tapestry collection of the museum. A more complete or finer collection would be hard to find," said Ethel Wulff.

Ethel Wulff is heard every Thursday afternoon over radio station KPO at 4:45, when she gives adult talks on fine and applied arts. She also conducts a children's story hour every Wednesday at 5 p. m. over KGO. At present she is taking her listeners on a trip around the world by air. She gives quaint myths and colorful folk lore about each country visited, and children from the story hour at the museum who have formed dramatic clubs, give plays interpretative of the various countries.

HOMER LEVINSON AGAIN ELECTED STUDENT BODY HEAD

Homer Levinson was reelected student body president of Sunset school at the election held Wednesday. Lee Van Atta is the new vice-president, and Jane Ellen Parker, secretary. Engineer for Water Rate Hearing Approved By Three City Councils

COUNCILS of the three cities went on record at a meeting Monday evening at Colton Hall in favor of securing the services of an engineer to assist in preparing the water rate case before the State Railroad Commission, in which Monterey, Pacific Grove and Carmel are complainants and the Monterey County Water Works is defendant. This was embodied in their acceptance of a report of the Joint Public Utility Board, composed of F. P. Howard, William Fiddes and A. G. Metz, recommending such action. Capt. James Armstrong as an engineer of experience, was recommemnded for the post. Following is the text of the report accepted by the three councils:

"In pursuance with your instructions, your Joint Public Utility Board has consulted with the engineers of the State Railroad Commission, the attorney for the complainants, and the attorney of record for the cities of Monterey, Pacific Grove, and Carmel-by-the-Sea, as to the status of the rate case now pending.

"A study was made of the proceedings thus far, and of the usual proceedings in such cases; also consultation with engineers having a knowledge of Public Utility rate cases.

"Trips were made to San Francisco for the purpose of contacting various parties with relation to said case.

"As a result, we make the following recommendations:

"That the cities of Monterey, Pacific Grove, and Carmel-by-the-Sea, through their attorney of record, appear and continue to take an active part in the prosecution of this rate case; to the extent and for the purpose of urging that the Railroad Commission institute an investigation on its own initiative as to the reasonableness of the present water rates.

"We are informed by counsel that the services of a competent engineer experienced in rate proceedings are essential in the preparation, and presentation, of facts which will establish a prima facie case. We believe the above proposed investigation on the part of the State Railroad Commission to be highly desirable and to the best interest of the people of the Monterey Peninsula.

"In order, however, to secure such an investigation on the part of the Railroad Commission, it is necessary to establish a prima facie case showing the unreasonableness of the present water rates, at the hearing to be held at Colton Hall in Monterey on February 15, 1935, or at a postponement thereof.

"We therefore recommend the employment of Capt. James Armstrong, an engineer of experience, who comes with the highest recommendations, and who has had much experience in Public Utility rate proceedings, to assist the attorneys in the case in securing and presenting the data necessary to establish said prima facie case; said engineer to be paid the flat sum of four hundred dollars for securing, preparing, and tabulating of the said necessary data, and for the presentation of the same as an expert witness before the Railroad Commission at said hearing; unless the said hearing is postponed or deferred to a later date, in which case said presentation shall be made at such postponed date."

Has Anybody Seen "Pal"? He's Not In Monterey Pound

A letter from J. M. Wolcott to The Pine Cone reports a rumor that "Pal," Carmel's mutt-about-town, is under sentence of death at the pound in Monterey, as result of activities of the Humane Society in rounding up unlicensed, non-immunized dogs. At the pound the report was given that "Pal" was not among the condemned prisoners; as The Pine Cone's special investigator has not had time to make a personal visit to the pound, we accept this as partial reassurance. However, the village would like to know that "Pal" is alive and well somewhere. Has anyone seen him? Our correspondent reports that many Carmel visitors inquire as to "Pal's" welfare when they write to friends here, and hundreds of Carmelites would deplore any mishap to him.

Herbert H. McGuckin, who has been actively associated with the Dolores Grocery, which is now the Postoffice grocery, has purchased the interest of Mrs. Ann Ewig, and he is now sole owner and manager.

McGuckin is a well known Carmel business man. His connection with the Postoffice and Dolores grocery has been of over two years standing, and prior to that time he was well known in Carmel.

Mrs. Ewig disposed of her interest due to the pressure of other matters which demanded a large portion of her time.

McGuckin cordially invites old friends and new to drop in and inspect his store, next to the postoffice, at any time, and without any feeling of obligation to buy.

CARMEL PIANIST IN TWO RECITALS AT S. F.-SAN JOSE

Anne Greene, one of Carmel's most gifted young pianists, has played two concerts during the past week, the first in San Francisco Saturday night, when she entertained an informal audience at the studio of Margaret Tilly, and the second last evening, when she appeared at the State Teachers' College at San Jose. She used the same program on both occasions; the Bach fifth French suite, thirty-two variations, of Beethoven ,and a Debussy group.

MRS. DAISY TAYLOR MAY BE TRUSTEE CANDIDATE

"Many of my friends have asked whether I will be a candidate for re-election to the school board at the March 29 election," said Mrs. Daisy Taylor, incumbent. "I have not definitely made a decision as yet, but I may be a candidate. In the meantime, I urge all my friends to register before tomorrow noon, when registrations close.

Hawaiian Gardens Subject for Talk

For its first February meeting the Woman's Club garden section went to the home of Mrs. E. H. Lowell, San Antonio and Tenth, where the speaker was Mrs. Kathryn Wood, sister of Mrs. Rose DeYoe. Her subject was "Hawaiian Gardens;" her material was based on long residence in the Islands.

In interesting detail, the exotic trees, shrubs and flowers were described, together with the conditions of gardening in Hawaii. Gardens are landscaped there far more than here, the speaker said, and are most effective with their broad lawns, and their use of native planting materials. Ornamental shrubs are used more than flower masses, to provide for bouquets.

Although the islands are noted for their beautiful trees, many of the loveliest are imported, as native trees are few and do not grow near the coast, said Mrs. Wood. She mentioned the shower, which bowers Honolulu in its pink, yellow and rainbow blossoms; the poinciana, or flame tree, the jacaranda, the tuip tree, the monkey pod, not brilliant in bloom but beautiful in form, the mango and ginger trees.

Hawaiian gardeners rely much on green-houses, and often grow shrubs in tubs. Hedges are much used and are most effective, particularly the hibiscus, which is of Samoan origin, the speaker explained, the crotons and the panex. Mrs. Wood spoke of the enormous variety of ferns, much used for home decoration; of the begonias, the royal palms, and the luxuriance of vines which grow so freely they became almost a nuisance. She also gave long lists of flowers and bulbs grown.

Marionettes Enjoyed By Class at Pacific Grove

Miss Helen W. Smith and Miss Avis McKarcher presented their popular marionettes to the members of the Philathea class of the Congregational Church of Pacific Grove and their friends, Friday night. Cleverly portraying "Brer Rabbit" and his friends in the amusing five-act "dramer," "The Stolen Foot," the two "producers" delighted their large audience. Especially interesting were the antics of two dancers performing between the acts, who seemed to be almost alive so animated were their movements.

Following the program the members of the class gathered at Silas W. Mack's home for a class social which was the first this year. Mr. Mack, who is the class's teacher, announced that plans were to be made for the annual class banquet. Miss Georgiann Good, the class president, appointed Barbara McGill chairman of the menu committee, Doris Cook chairman of the program committee, and Martha Pye chairman of the decoration committee.

REGINALD FOSTER SPEAKS

With its president, Stanley Sasser, presiding, the Lighthouse Club of Pacific Grove held its monthly dinner and business meeting at "Patsy's cafe, Tuesday night. After having centered their interest on the excellent food, the members next concentrated on the guest speaker, Reginald Foster, who spoke vividly on the "Future of the Monterey Peninsula and the New Coast Road."

Stravinsky Plays Tomorrow Night

"I am not a futurist," declares Igor Stravinsky, eminent modern composer, whose works during the past 20 years have created furore after furore in the music world for their bold dissonances and departures from musical conventions.

This world-famed composer, who will appear in Carmel tomorrow night at Sunset School auditorium in a joint recital with Samuel Dushkin, American violinist, stands forth today as perhaps the most-discussed and most revolutionary figure whom music has ever produced.

Born in Petrograd, Russia, 53 years ago, Stravinsky began his musical studies with a pupil of Anton Rubinstein and subsequently studied composition with Rimsky-Korsakoff. His masterpieces have laid an influence on every composer who has written within the past 20 years. He denies, however, that he is writing "the music of the future" as his compositions have been called. He is, above all, a man of his own time.

Coming like a new ray across the orthodox school of music, Stravinsky did not hesitate to clash violently with tradition. He used the materials of the age he lives in, the dissonance of metal against metal, the hum and whirr of wheels, the clack of shuttles, all the new and startling sounds of the machine. Yet his music has form and precision.

Samuel Dushkin has become one of the greatest interpreters of Stravinsky and together they give a concert which is unique. This will be the third concert of the Carmel Music Society's winter season.

Following is the program of the Stravinsky-Dushkin concert:

(1) Suite Italienne: Introduzione, Serenata, Tarantella, Gavotte con due variazioni, Scherzino, Menuetta e Final.

(2) Divertimento (inspire par la Muse de Tchaikovsky): Sinfonia, Danses Suises, Scherzo, Pas de Deux (a) Adagio (b) Variation (c) Coda.

(3) Dou Concertant: Cantilene, Eglogue 1. Eglogue 2, Gigue, Dithyrambe.

(4) Airs du Rissognol (from "Le Rossignol), Marche chinoise, Berceuse, Scherzo (from "L'Oiseau de Feu"), Danse Russe (from "Petrouska").

Birthday Greeting Across Continent Cheers Pine Cone

The Pine Cone was pleased and touched this week to receive from one of its far-away subscribers, Nan J. Hysham, of Red Oak, Iowa, a birthday greeting card, in response to the recent twentieth birthday number. "Here's wishing you success, long life and smooth sailing," says the appreciative subscriber. A charming idea, that institutions as well as individuals, may be gladdened by birthday wishes from their friends.

Mrs. Edward B. Finch is visiting Mrs. Erastus Hopkins from Deerfield, Mass., and expects to make an extended stay here.

Japanese Music Pleases Audience

Better for evening relaxation at home than a radio would be a domesticated shakuhashi player. This exotic and highly specialized form of music was heard at Denny-Watrous Gallery Saturday evening, by a very small audience, but one which was the better for the experience. T. Tamada was the player; Henry Cowell preceded his brief program with an entertaining discussion of Japanese music.

Music of the shakuhashi is without form in the western sense. It is a mistake to try to "understand" it; originally an aid to meditation and prayer, it is an ideal accompaniment to mental relaxation. It permits the mind to wander free on its own quest of beauty. There are only fragments of tune. The player launches notes, shimmering, pure, complete in themselves. Never entirely like any other instrument, the tones at times resembled those from a violin, a flute, an oboe, piano, organ, cello. Only distraction is the occasional intrusion of the breathy effort required to produce sound on this extremely difficult long bamboo pipe.

Mr. Cowell explained that the music designedly "suggests" only, just as in Japanese art economy of line bids the eye of the beholder to supply its own details. Less of a musical instrument, more of a guide to moral attainment, an instructor in patience, an aid to high character, is the shakuhashi to its masters. Its music is not rhythmical, has more the cadence of prose.

This instrument, not heard outside Japanese temples until 150 years ago, now sometimes is heard in unison with the koto, a harplike instrument with silken strings over hollow, resonant wood, laid on the floor, and traditionally a woman's instrument; and the shamisan, a sort of three-stringed banjo played with an enormous plectrum.

Ancient China went in for "splendiferousness" in music, said Mr. Cowell, volume of sound being the object of court orchestras of five or six hundred players, rather than purity of tone. Japanese music was designed for the home; the player meditated over his instrument or entertained appreciative friends only. A cosmic outline, delicated attentuated, stimulated the creative imagination of the hearer.

BEG PARDON!

It was not ignorance but carelessness that caused The Pine Cone to present Mrs. Maude Arndt as "Mrs. Myrtle Arndt" last week. A too-hasty glance into the telephone book, that substantial book of reference for proper initials and the spelling of names, resulted in a confusion of the names of two well-known local women.

MRS. AUGUST ENGLUND GOES BACK TO HUSBAND'S BEDSIDE

Mrs. August Englund was in Carmel for a few days at the end of last week, before returning to the bedside of her husband in San Francisco, where she has kept constant vigil since amputation of his leg was found necessary. She took this occasion to ask that her thanks be conveyed to Carmel, on her behalf and her husband's, for the kindly solicitude of which they have had expression in the form of many affectionate and cheering letters. The Englunds have lived in Carmel for 17 years, and are moved to deep realization that the friendships they have formed here are deep and lasting.

No need to have a heating problem
-install Gas Heating!

ARE you trying to depend upon a fireplace or a stove to keep your house warm? The fire goes down and then the house gets chilly. You get tired, worn-out just trying to be comfortable.

Gas heating has the wonderful advantage of keeping going without anyone even thinking about the fire. With gas heating equipment you can have steady, even, circulating heat, hour after hour, day or night.

With Natural Gas, the healthful economical fuel of high heat content, gas heating costs very little more than ordinary fuel. That is why thousands and thousands of doctors, clerks, farmers, machinists, salesmen, policemen, building owners, young folks, old folks—everywhere use and praise Natural Gas heating.

Now during this season of changeable weather is the time to install gas heating equipment. No more need to wish for an easier way to keep the house warm. You will have it. Easy terms can be arranged.

Gas heating plants are quickly and easily installed. A small down payment is all that is required.

COUNCIL FAILS TO APPOINT SUCCESSOR TO ROBT. NORTON

NEITHER the filling of Robert Norton's vacant chair at the city council table nor the utility district resolution were discussed by the Carmel council at its meeting Wednesday evening. The council is understood to be considering several names, but no announcement has been made as to who are possible candidates for the post left vacant when Norton was made chief of police following his resignation from the council. The tabled resolution calling upon the county supervisors to call a tri-city election on the question of forming a utility district was not mentioned.

The council authorized Mayor Thoburn to sign his name 54 times on papers submitting two Carmel projects for approval by SERA. The first dealt with beach erosion control, and it passed only after the council had assured John Jordan, the watchdog of Carmel's treasury, that it was beach erosion control that was proposed, and not the creation of public picnic grounds designed to attract visitors to Carmel's beach. "Why should we do something for a lot of outsiders?" Mr. Jordan asked. "The Carmel people have a lot of other places to go besides the beach." He was assured that the beach was to be left in untrammeled wildness, and that the $1035 for materials was to be spent for retaining walls and flood gutters.

The second SERA project deals with indexing of Carmel's resolutions, ordinances and minutes, at a probable cost for materials of $45 or less.

A recommendation by Fire Chief Robert Leidig that 4- and 6-inch water mains in the business district be replaced by 10-inch mains was tabled without comment until the April meeting.

Street Commissioner Burge wished attention drawn to the success of the council's clean-up drive against piling of rubbish in the streets. Out of 83 citations given, all but four property owners have cooperated by removing garden clippings and other trash from city streets.

Referred to the street commissioner was a communication from Nelle T. Brewer asking the city to do something about the deteriorated condition of a bridge fronting her property on North Lincoln. It was brought out that repair work has been done on the bridge from time to time, but anything as radical as reconstruction has not been attempted because of the fact that property owners in the region affected showed no inclination to agree on the best thing to do.

The next council meeting will be Feb. 20.

TWO MEETINGS SCHEDULED BY CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB

During the third week of February there will be two section meetings of the Carmel Woman's Club. The book section will meet Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 10 o'clock at the Girl Scout house. Mrs. Kent Clark will review "The Lord's Anointed," by McKee, a story laid in the Hawaiian Islands.

The garden section will meet Thursday, Feb. 21, at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Joseph Hooper, Camino Real and Thirteenth. The speaker will be Prof. Wilbur B. Howes, of San Luis Obispo Polytechnic, who will give a talk on perennials.

MAJOR SHEPHARD NAMED AMERICANISM CHAIRMAN

Major Chester A. Shephard has been appointed Americanism chairman of Carmel Legion Post, according to announcement by legion officials. His first official act will be to arrange for a public program devoted to Americanism, date of which will be announced later. He is assisted by a committee including Byington Ford, Conrad Immelman, E. H. Ewig, Gail Chandler and Otto W. Bardarson. This group will meet soon to perfect plans and set a date. It is expected that a nationally known speaker will be secured for the program.

EVENSONG AT ALL SAINTS'

The public is cordially invited to attend the evensong and organ recital at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at All Saints' Episcopal church. Edward C. Hopkins will give the organ recital, assisted by special soloists and the church choir.

P-T. A. Musicale Pleasing Affair

One of the most pleasant occasions in Carmel's week was the Monday evening musicale and reception given by the P-T. A. at Sunset school. The affair was well attended, and the guests enjoyed thoroughly the program presented by a popular group of musicians, all of whom are most generous in giving of their talents. The program and the party were informal; the music was of the popular and melodious sort appropriate for a gathering of a group of friends.

Miss Clara Kellogg presided as hostess on behalf of the P-T. A., in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. A. H. Watson. Appearing on the program were the octet of Community church, a group of singers whose voices blend beautifully, and who presented a pleasing group of selections. The singers are: Ethel Ervine, Frances Schreiman, Gertrude Bardarson, Betty Hyde, Dr. H. M. Hollingsworth, Andrew Sessink, Dr. Lawrence M. Knox and Miles Bain.

Soloists on the program were Anna Marie Baer, who gave a charming group of songs; Dr. Knox, whose presentation of character songs was strikingly effective; and Mildred Sahlstrom Wright, who gave a beautiful rendition of Borowski's "Adoration," "American Dance" by Stoessel, and a violin novelty, "Ghost Dance." Mrs. Irvine and Mr. Sessing gave a group of vocal duets. Accompanists for the concert were Madeline Currey and Ruth Sessink.

After the program members of the P-T. A. served punch and cookies in the foyer, and a social hour was enjoyed.

HONOR ACCORDED SENATOR TICKLE FOR ACHIEVEMENTS

Honor was placed upon Senator E. H. Tickle of Highlands Inn this week when he was chosen as one of ten California solons on the council of the American Legislators Association.

Appointment of Senator Tickle was in recognition of achievements of value to the state, it was said. The association is a clearing house for legislative problems throughout the nation and maintains offices in Washingon, D. C.

AGENT TO ASSIST LOCAL PAYERS OF INCOME TAXES

Don C. Sadler of the United States internal revenue service will be in Carmel on Feb. 23, 25 and 26 to assist taxpayers in preparing their income tax returns. No charge will be made for the service. Mr. Sadler will be located at the Bank of Carmel on Feb. 23 and 25 and at the Monterey County Trust and Savings bank on Feb. 26.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE SCHEDULES THREE MEETINGS

Three section meetings of the League of Women Voters will be held next week. The government and education group of which Mrs. George Schuyler is chairman will meet at Seaside school Thursday at 1:15. At the home of Mrs. Mast Wolfson, 454 Cedar street, Monterey, the government and child welfare study group will meet Thursday evening at 7:30.

On Wednesday, the group devoted to study of government and its operation will meet at the home of Mrs. J. B. Adams, 665 Carmelo, Carmel. Mrs. Carl Voss is chairman.

LA COLLECTA CLUB HOLDS AN INTERESTING SESSION

La Collecta Club of Carmel was entertained by Miss Laura Gifford at its last meeting. Fifteen members responded to roll call with current events, which resulted in discussion of a number of interesting subjects. Guest speaker was Mme. Jeanne Pirenne, who reminisced upon her early life in France and Spain, contrasting the home life of country and city people in these countries.

The next meeting, Feb. 20, will be held at the home of Mrs. O. A. Holm at Fifth and Lincoln. The speaker will be Mrs. John Clark, daughter of missionaries, born in Syria.

A PLANNING COMMISSION

Carrying on the discussion of Carmel's imminent and inevitable growth, this paper would recommend, before it is too late, creation of an active and conscientious planning commission, and submission of an ordinance which would give it suitable powers. Artists, architects and laymen who have the welfare of the community at heart, should compose such a commission, and they should have jurisdiction over public and private building.

One element of the old Carmel the passing of which is deplored, and rightly so, is the simplicity of its homes. Tasteless, over-pretentious and out of keeping with the old cottage tradition, are some of the dwellings which have been built here in recent years.

Simplicity and comfort are perfectly compatible. Every requirement for domestic convenience, and even luxury, can be embodied in homes of the cottage type. Extraneous ornamentation, pomposity of design, and use of bastard architectural motifs have already made some portions of Carmel look like sections out of Pasadena or Hollywood. This could be stopped by a planning commission.

There should be stringent building restrictions for Carmel. They should not be based on price, as in some "exclusive" residential districts, but on taste. Drawings of prospective structures should be submitted to a board of experts, to be passed upon from the standpoint of conformity to a tangible artistic standard. Some of Carmel's most charming houses, partly responsible for the universal admiration in which this village is held, cost less than $3000 to build. At far greater cost monstrosities have been erected from which old Carmelites and sensitive visitors alike turn pained eyes aside.

In the business district we have a few beautiful buildings cheek by jowl with others, hallowed by tradition, but essentially unattractive. We have architects and builders here, capable of envisioning a planned business district, with all buildings harmoniously conforming. The comparison may be highly invidious, but William Wrigley has taken the junky little town of Avalon, on Catalina Island, and is gradually transforming it into a thing of beauty, a village of glamour and architectural sincerity. His purpose is frankly commercial, but the result is pleasing. Carmel could do something infinitely more charming, because we have resources of taste and discernment, in our own residents, which Mr. Wrigley has not, with due respect to his intention.

In years to come owners of business buildings which are outmoded will wish to remodel or rebuild. There should be some measure of civic control over improvements which will make Carmel more beautiful, or will destroy it.

Some central theme should be selected and followed. If it is Spanish, let it be authentic, simple and colonial in feeling, not a gaudy imitation of Southern California's imitation of Mediterranean urban architecture. A cottage motif would be more effective, and would make sun and air more accessible. It is regretable that the business buildings are already so crowded together that sun never enters some of them, and the lack of ventilation is deplorable. There should be space between business buildings, and even courts and gardens—but perhaps this is all too fanciful, and fails to take cognizance of land values, real or fictitious, which make for overcrowding in small communities.

SET IN CRYSTAL

The rigid hands of winter take
And put their seal upon the lake.
The waves relieved of fitful urge
Now set in crystal quiet, merge
And wait for spring's distilling aid
To give their motion freedom's blade.

A WIND STIRRING

Heart, thunder light,
The bird of her breast is peeping!
The thorn of fire we found
Under a stone by the garden wall.

Time will make garlands
Of our arms for singing
Our words were a memory of winds
Stirring leaves, tree branches

The moon heaves up
Continents of water
And the ship of our thoughts
Embarks on a sea-blue voyage

Here's Looking at You

By LOIS COLLINS PALMER

TO the outside world Carmel is known as a stronghold of tolerance. To what extent is this true? Politically, it is intensely intolerant. The liberals, and they are many, have been so thoroughly frightened that they do not dare lift their voices for fear of being labelled "reds." This is unfortunate, and arises from lack of understanding of the liberal point of view. The liberal is willing to hear all opinions expressed, and the more he hears, the better he is able to detect flaws in all the arguments. The Czar and the Cossacks unwittingly fostered the communists in Russia by driving them to cover. Radicals have always thrived on persecution. The best way to make a radical out of a liberal is to bottle him up. The more he can talk, the more harmless he is. The more he is allowed to hear the radical point of view, the quicker he is fed up.

* * *

In other respects, Carmel is unusually tolerant. Take the matter of clothes, for instance. Here one is allowed to feel completely unconscious of what one is wearing. Here people adopt the costume that suits them best and little eccentricities, passing without comment, are recognized as a medium of self-expression. John Catlin's beret, Gene Watson's plus-fours, Ross Miller's jersey shirts, Edward Weston's velveteen ones, Sis Reamer's dungarees—they are part of the familiar and beloved village scenery.

* * *

Women smoke incessantly and everywhere, without exciting comment. Even at P.-T. A. meetings, 'tis said. Outside of San Francisco or Los Angeles and Carmel, it is still rather rare to see feminine smokers on streets and in shops.

There is less vicious gossip in Carmel than in the average community. Talk, plenty of it, and personalities. But if slips and foibles are discussed, they are with kindly amusement rather than with condemnation. This, more than anything else, shows the quality of the healing winds that blow through this lovely village. They have cleansed minds of the noxious vapors which make men and women take pleasure in tearing each other to pieces.

* * *

One of the marvels of Carmel is its old ladies. We have several in their eighties who are not merely physically active and in possession of their normal faculties, but take a valuable part in community life. They dwell not in the past, but in the future. They study and create, in the fields of art, current events, literature, civic affairs. Something in the air, or the water, preserves them in a miraculous youth. Some people say that the women, in general, are more tolerant and more mentally alert, than the men. But then there are so many more women than men. . . .

BOY SCOUTS WEEK

During the past fortnight Boy Scouts of America celebrated their twentieth-fifth anniversary by designating the period as "Boy Scout Week."

Boys will be busy and if they are not busy doing good, it is a foregone conclusion that they may be in mischief. This suggests to society that juvenile delinquency ills must be treated by the antidote of healthful activities which leave the irrepressible age no time to get into trouble.

The Boy Scouts movement has been designed to give youth something to do that will develop it mentallly, physically and morally. Boys reached by this organization have no time to do evil and run no risks of getting into bad company.

In this matter society must choose between two things. It can renounce responsibility for its youth and then pay for the maintenance in reformatories, prisons and other institutions of the victims of its indifference, or it can pay toward perpetuating the scout movement, establishment of playgrounds, gymnasiums and athletic fields and minimize the operating costs of its corrective institutions.

Youth is ever bubbling over with excess energy and must have an escape valve. If given the opportunity of working it off through healthful channels the chances are favorable that it will escape the paths of evil.

The wise community considers well spent the money necessary to provide youth with proper facilities for group activity.

CANDIDATE DONALD HALE

Donald Hale has announced himself as candidate for the school board election of March 29. Up to the moment when this was written, no other candidate had been announced. More to the point than Mr. Hale's qualifications, which his friends say are sufficient, his long acquaintance with Carmel and his interest in village affairs, which are self-evident, is the fact that the two other members of the board would like to have Mr. Hale serve with them. They say that his presence on the board would make for harmony. In view of the unpleasant situation that developed in the Monterey school system recently, with evidence of complete lack of accord and the tranquility with which education should proceed, we should say that harmony is highly important.

Mr. Hale's many friends have asked for the support of this paper in his campaign. In consideration of the friendly and straightforward way in which they have presented his candidacy, and the enthusiastic manner in which other representative Carmelites have added unsolicited endorsement, we are glad to accord it.

PUBLIC MUST HELP

Public cooperation in controlling the rabies epidemic is imperative; unless it is made a charge on the conscience of every pet owner, irreparable harm will result. First step is to obey the well-publicized instructions to keep domestic animals confined to the premises of their owners, or on leash. While many of our familiar canine friends are no longer seen at large, indicating that the warning is being heeded, to some extent, there are still too many dogs roaming about unconfined. Failure to cooperate will have but one result; it will bring stringent regulations upon us, and a chance that police power may be invoked to enforce them.

Boy Scouts Awarded Merit Badges at Impressive Pacific Grove Affair

LOCAL observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Boy Scouts of America organization took place when an impressive court of honor was held in Pacific Grove high school auditorium.

Before an exceptionally large audience with G. S. Curtis presiding as chairman, Col. Ralph M. Parker, presidio commandant; S. F. B. Morse and Allen Griffin presented awards to the eagerly expectant Scouts who had struggled arduously and long in the earning of them. A stirring concert by the Eleventh Cavalry band, led by Warrant Officer Crockett Baxter, preceded the presentation of the awards.

Councilman John Catlin of Carmel; Lt.-Col. F. P. Marley, Seventy-sixth Field artillery; Capt. H. H. Cameron, Eleventh Cavalry; City Manager Erwin Dames of Pacific Grove, and Sutton Christian of Pacific Grove were also interested participants from the stage.

Flag Ceremony

The Pacific Grove and Monterey Sea Scout troop opened the program by an impressive flag raising ceremoney led by Skipper Stanley W. Greeb, which was followed by introduction of the guests and "America" played by the band.

Colonel Parker, stating that he wished congress would make all boys join the Boy Scouts and praising the Boy Scout movement by emphasizing the value of the organization in promoting good citizenship, presented the first and second class badges, and an Eagle Scout award. Edward Dumona of Troop 92 received his first class badge and second class badges were awarded the following: Ralph Bircher, Troop 81; Pat Dalley, Troop 90; William Main, Troop 92; Melvin Farmer, Troop 81; Ray Lingenfelter, Troop 90; Keith Davison, Troop 90; R. Bisnett, Troop 92; Robert Deakin, Troop 92; Richard Gamble, Troop 92. Also Harold Ball of Troop 77 received the Eagle Scout award, marking completion of tests qualifying him for at least 21 merit badges and attainment of the highest rank in Scouting.

Allen Griffin presented the merit badges to the following: Harold Ball, Troop 77, life saving; Jack Malloway, Troop 77, swimming; Frank Girard, Troop 81, automobiling; L. Krumholtz, Troop 81, cooking; Clifford Daniels, Troop 90, cycling; Noel Miller, Troop 90, camping; Charles Richardson, Troop 90, cycling; Claudius Ward, Troop 92, cycling.

Importance of Training

S. F. B. Morse, stressing the importance of their scout training in their later years as American citizens, awarded certificates for having maintained active service for four years or more to the following: Fred Witmer, Kazu Sugano, Louie Oleari, Harry McDonald, Ray Mann, Jr., Norman Lingenfelter, Louis Carpenter, Clarence M. Allen, all from the Sea Scout Ship 26; John Zimmerman, Louis Schinauer, Chas. Fell, Edward Breaux, all from Troop 77; Kenneth Norris, Emile F. Lippman, Leroy Henry, from Troop 79; Frank Girard, Delos Bagby, from Troop 81; George Dorwart, Troop 86; James Willey, George Raymond, Lyman Lowe, Howard Fitzsimmons, Charles Dawson, Jack Crabbe, from Troop 90; and Arthur Fogg, Troop 92.

The winner of the Scout axe for having the largest number of adults through his efforts present, was Roy Lewis of Troop 90. Captain Cameron made the presentation.

Winner of the attendance cup was Troop 92 of Pacific Grove, which was presented with a silver trophy by G. S. Curtis to F. E. Grantham. The Indian sign language followed by the buglars sounding "To the Colors" as members of the Sea Scout troop lowered the flag, constituted the formal closing ceremony conducted by Troop 90.

The Eleventh Cavalry band then concluded the evening by playing a march with drummers of the American Legion drum and bugle corps and buglers from the Eleventh Cavalry and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery playing a rhythmic obligato.

A Cordial Welcome To Our Old Friends And New

PINE NEEDLES

THE valentine motif was cleverly used by Mrs. Phillip W. Corbusier who entertained at a bridge luncheon Saturday at her home in the Country Club, for Mrs. H. R. Gurney of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the guest of Mrs. John MacWillie of Carmel Woods. The luncheon table was centered with a large red heart surrounded by doilies on which rested red passion flowers, and a low bowl of the same blossoms reposed within the heart. Favors, place cards and the score prize were all in the red heart design. Beside Mrs. Gurney and Mrs. MacWillie, the guests included: Mrs. Millard Pierson, Mrs. Herman Rathjen, Mrs. Sidney Bowen, Mrs. Walter H. Johnson and Mrs. J. M. True.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dougherty entertained the cast and production staff of "The Ghost Train," their husbands and wives, at their home in the Highlands after the closing performance Saturday night. An informal bouffet supper was served.

* * *

Saturday being the birthday of their house-guest, Miss Maude Koppitz of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tutt entertained at a dinner in her honor that evening. The table was attractively appointed in yellow. Among the guests were a group of San Franciscans who were week-end guests of the Tutts: Dr. Lillian Boldeman, Miss Alice Boldeman and Watson McAlister. Carmel guests were Mr. and Mrs. John M. Dickinson.

* * *

Mrs. F. M. Blanchard of Carmel Highlands entertained at luncheon Tuesday at Peter Pan Lodge, honoring her guest, Miss Sarah Frances Jones of Chicago. After luncheon, a program of old Irish music was given by Charles O'Conner, singer and harpist.

Those who enjoyed the affair, with Mrs. Blanchard and Miss Jones, were: Miss Mary Pitkin, Miss Ellen O'Sullivan, Mrs. W. F. Kilpatrick, Miss Ada Howe Kent, Judge Mary Bartelme, Miss Adeline Bartelme, Miss Adelaide Bartelme, Mrs. Thomas Fisher, Mrs. E. H. Tickle, Miss Marguerite Tickle, Mrs. Charles Bigelow, Mrs. Wellington Clark, Miss Jean Kellogg, Mrs. D. T. MacDougal, Miss Peggy Chamberlain, Mrs. Caroline P. McCready, Miss Jeanette Condy, Mrs. Mary A. Reade, Mrs. Martin A. Flavin, Dr. Margaret Levick, Dr. Lillian Taylor, Miss Anne Hazen, Miss Gladys Merrill, Dr. Helen Carncross, Mrs. E. L. Hamilton, Mrs. William Ritschel.

Among former Carmel residents who are returning home for Washington's birthday are the Misses Florence Brown and Eleanor Watson, who have been attending the Dominican Convent in San Rafael. Ray Draper, Bowley Hoffman, and Vincent Wells will leave school to stay at the Hoffman home at Third and Mission. Miss Martha Millis will return home from her school in Marin county. Miss Mary Campbell of Piedmont is to spend the week-end with Miss Sue Brownell.

* * *

On Saturday, March 2, Miss Elena Musto of San Francisco will be married to Alexander Neil Lilley, son of Mrs. Maurice Barclay of Pebble Beach. Miss Musto is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Musto of San Francisco, where the ceremony will be performed by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, at Mission Dolores.

* * *

Miss Hallie Samson and A. C. LaFrenz entertained at dinner in Monterey Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McCreary and Mrs. Ruth Lewis, after which the party returned to Miss Samson's home, Topside, for an evening of bridge. Mrs. Lewis was in Carmel for the week-end from Berkeley, where she is staying temporarily, expecting to return soon to Carmel where she formerly lived.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Diehl entertained several of their friends at the beach club at Pebble Beach Sunday. Among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Byington Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noges, Mr. and Mrs. Van Boling, the Messrs. Samuel G. Blythe, Jack Neville, and Nat Paschel, and the Misses Margeret and Barbara Northwood.

Miss Alta Jones recently visited Miss Florence Kelting at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. W. G. Kelting in Redwood City.

Miss Patty Coblentz gave a party at the Coblentz home on San Antonio Saturday night, entertaining the Misses Josephine Heyl, Doris Crossman, Jean Leidig, Jean Cowen, Shirley Hoffman, and the Messrs. Neil and Cole Weston, John and Bill Short, Danny Lockwood, Joe Schoeninger, Douglas Fast, and Sam Coblentz.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Eugene Smith and their daughter, Milancy, will come here soon from Hillsborough to make their home. They have purchased the former Estella S. Joyce cottage at Second and Dolores, and will do considerable remodeling before moving in at the end of this month.

* * *

At a week-end party at the home of Mrs. John Magee in Pebble Beach were Mr. and Mrs. William N. Leid, Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds Lyman, and Tallant Tubbs. Also at a Saturday night dinner party there were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Delafield Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winslow, and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse.

* * *

Friends in correspondence with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mathias, who formerly occupied the Field house on Carmel Point, learn that they are staying at present at the Savoy-Plaza in New York City, and enjoying a round of gaiety. They probably will not go abroad, and may return to Carmel soon.

* * *

Howard Stackpole of San Jose will join his wife, Etta Stackpole here over the week-end, for a business trip to Los Angeles and a few days relaxation at Laguna Beach and Palm Springs.

* * *

Miss Virginia A. Davis is leaving for Santa Monica for a short stay, after which she expects to be touring the state for some time. She will return to Carmel in about two months.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George Randles and John Moore, on their way from Oakland to Guadalupe, are staying with the Van Sants at the Scout House this week-end.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan had as week-end guests Mrs. Jordan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eagal of Stockton, and her sister, Miss Jane Eagal.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell entertained Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walsh at their Carmel valley ranch last week-end, giving a dinner party for them on Saturday night.

* * *

Among peninsula people registered at the Clift in San Francisco early this week were Mrs. Edward McCready, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hamilton, of Carmel, Miss L. T. Beatty and Miss Husted of Pebble Beach.

* * *

Miss Betty Heyl is to return to Carmel from a two weeks' trip to Brownsville, Texas, this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hoyt of Newcastle, Pa., were at Cypress Point for the week-end. The easterners have been visiting relatives in San Francisco and are en route to Southern California.

Capsized Skiff Proves Only Deceased Sea-Lion

Fishing off the rocks opposite Highlands Inn Saturday, Melvin C. Dorsett of Carmel kept a weather eye on a small boat in the little bay between the Ritschel and James houses. At noon he climbed the hill to his car, ate lunch and returned. The boat was gone; in its place bobbed something white, and waving over it was something that looked like a man's arm. Unable to distinguish the objects clearly, he climbed to the inn and phoned to Carmel police station his suspicion that the unknown fisher's boat had capsized. A rescue car was sent down from Highlands Inn; a power boat put out from Point Lobos. Watchers from the road at the top of the cliff turned field glasses on the object in the bay, were sure that the gentle swell of the waves occasionally disclosed the outlines of a half-submerged skiff. The rescue party in the Point Lobos boat discovered it to be a huge dead sea-lion, floating belly-up, an occasional flapping fin resembling the arm of a man.

Mrs. Gladys Kingsland Dixon entertained a few friends informally at supper Sunday night.

Liberal Point of View Encouraged By State Senator In Grove Talk

CHRIS JESPERSEN, state senator from San Luis Obispo county, gave courageous expression to the liberal point of view in an illuminating talk on California government for the League of Women Voters at its monthly luncheon meeting Wednesday at Holman's solarium. He recalled the background of California's tax system, whereby state taxes are derived from public service corporations, and local governments are supported by real and personal property taxes, and discussed some of the methods used by the corporations to shift a larger proportion of the burden to common property. The sales tax, designed to lift the burden from real estate, relieved common property of 76 million dollars of taxation, and placed a burden of 100 million dollars upon consumers, he brought out.

Hits at Sales Tax

Senator Jesperson described the sales tax as a "gross income tax" upon families of small means who spend all their money for living expenses, whereas in the higher income brackets, only the money actually spent, as contrasted with gross income, is taxed.

That the per capita cost of education has not risen at the rate of other government expense, and that the corporations have fostered the movement for curtailing education costs were facts brought out by the speaker. He compared the huge, but essential, cost of highway construction with the lesser cost of education, and pointed out the highways may conceivably be completed some day, but that the public must realize that the cost of adequate education will never be static.

Six Years Behind

Total abolition of many essential government functions still would fail to balance California's budget, said Jesperson. Because California is six years behind schedule with her building program for public institutions, she must face the fact that she must resume this expenditure to relieve intolerable conditions of overcrowding.

He favors no increase in the sales tax without certain exemptions, would let it drop to 2 per cent as provided by the present law, and would supply the deficit through a gross transactions tax, which would tap sources not touched by the retail tax. "Taxation," he declared, "should be according to ability to pay rather than to benefits received."

The speaker pointed to the danger of loss of personal freedom embodied in certain measures advocated, such as one which would render criminal the advocacy of overthrow of the present industrial order. Such measures, he declared, follow in the footsteps of Russia, Germany and Italy in destroying the freedom inherent in the American system.

Senator E H. Tickle and Assemblyman Ellis A. Patterson were special guests at the luncheon, and spoke briefly.

CITY HALL LOAN REVOKED

Official notice has been received here that on February 7 Secretary Ickes as public works administrator, revoked the allotment of $27,000 for which Carmel had applied to build a city hall. Reason for the revocation was failure of the city hall bond election to carry.

"FIND OUT SALE" WILL REVEAL DEL MONTE VALUES

During the month of February local dealers will be featuring canned food sales in their stores. The California Packing Corporation, packers of the well known Del Monte line, is having a general "find out sale" at this time to urge consumers to learn just how many tempting dishes may be prepared from Del Monte products.

Local dealers recommend that housewives stock their pantries at prevailing low prices, inasmuch as price markets on foodstuffs are moving upward rapidly.
